FINANCIER DIES TODAY

Prominent Railway Executive, Financier and Sportsman Succumbs in France

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, July 22.—William K. Vanderbilt, American financier, died today. Death was due to heart trouble. Vanderbilt's death occurred at 6 o'clock this evening. At his bedside were his wife, his daughter, Duchess of Marlborough, and two sons, William and Harold. The body will be taken to the United States to be buried in the family plot at Staten Island.

William Kissam Vanderbilt, son of William H. and Candace of Commodore Vanderbilt, one of the most prominent railway executives, financiers and sportsmen, in the United States, passed much of his time in recent years abroad. The Duke of Marlborough married his own daughter, Consuelo, in 1895.

Mr. Vanderbilt was long a patron of the French turf, of yachting and of automobile racing in the United States. He was the donor of the "Vanderbilt cup" for which motor speed kings contested a decade or more ago on Long Island.

During the war, Mr. Vanderbilt was in hospital and relief work, and in promoting the work of the Lafayette escadrille. During the summer of 1919, Mr. Vanderbilt was reported to have presented to his daughter, the Duchess of Marlborough, a gift of $15,000,000.

Mr. Vanderbilt was born on Staten Island, N. Y., December 12, 1849. After receiving an academic education in America he studied for several years in Geneva, Switzerland. He married Miss Alice Smith, of Mobile, Ala., now Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, in 1874 and to them were born, besides Consuelo, two other children, William K. Jr., and Harold Vanderbilt. On April 28, 1902, Mr. Vanderbilt married Mrs. A. H. Rutherford of London, England.

Upon completing his studies in Switzerland, he entered the office of C. C. Clarke, treasurer of the Hudson River railroad, first as a bookkeeper, and was gradually placed in positions of trust and responsibility in connection with the great Vanderbilt railroad system. From 1877 to 1883 he was second vice-president of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad. He was also chairman of the board of directors of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railway for many years, as well as a director of the New York Central, Michigan Central, Lake Erie & Western, Chicago & Northwestern, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, Chicago, Cleveland & Cincinnati & St. Louis, New York & Harlem, Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and West Shore railroads. He was also a director of the Metropolitan Opera company and united with the brothers, Cornelius, George and Frederick, in establishing the Vanderbilt Clinic in New York at a cost of more than $500,000. His sons, William K. Jr., and Harold Vanderbilt, are directors in more than 150 railroads and other corporations.

BRYAN FISHING; NO STATEMENT

(By Associated Press)
HELENA, July 22.—William Jennings Bryan, after spending the night at Meadow Lake Inn, Madison county, Montana, 22 miles from the nearest railway point, went on a fishing trip this morning. Meadow Lake is without telephone communication. Efforts to get in touch with him and learn his attitude on the prohibition amendment for president which was introduced here yesterday were without avail.

"UNSATISFACTORY"

LINCOLN, July 22.—Senator Harding's attitude on prohibition as expressed in his speech at Marion today is "entirely unsatisfactory" to the prohibition party, Virgil Hinshaw, chairman of the national committee, said. Harding will receive no support from prohibitionists, declared Hinshaw.

RIOT IN BELFAST

(By Associated Press)
BELFAST, July 22.—Rioting was quelled in the Falls area of West Belfast during the mid dinner hour today. The police office was wrecked and the police fired on the rioters. A soldier and several civilians were wounded.

Full Text of Harding's Speech Accepting Nomination

Following is the complete text of the address delivered by Senator Warren G. Harding, in accepting the republican nomination for president, at his home, Marion, Ohio, this afternoon.

(By Associated Press)

Chairman Lodge, members of the notification committee, members of the national committee, ladies and gentlemen:

The message which you have formally conveyed brings to me a realization of responsibility which is not underestimated. It is a supreme task to interpret the covenant of a great political party, the activities of which are so woven into the history of this republic, and a very sacred and solemn undertaking to utter the faith and aspirations of the many millions who adhere to that party. The party platform has charted the way, yet somehow we have come to expect that interpretation which comes from the faith of millions who must assume specific tasks.

Let me be understood clearly from the very beginning. I believe in party government as distinguished from personal government, individual dictatorship, autocracy or what not. In a citizenship of more than a hundred millions it is impossible to reach agreement upon all questions. Parties are formed by those who reach a consensus of opinion. It was the intent of the founding fathers to give to this republic a dependable and enduring popular government, representative in form and it was designed to make political parties not only the preserving sponsors but also the effective agencies through which hopes and aspirations and convictions and conscience may be translated into public performance.

Popular government has been an aspiration of liberty since the dawn of civilization. Republics have risen and fallen, and a failure since the world began. Under the constitution we have the charted way to security and perpetuity. We know it gave to us the safe path to a developing eminence which no people in the world ever rivaled. It has guaranteed the rule of intelligent, deliberate public opinion, expressed through parties. Under this plan a masterful leadership becomingly may manifest its influence, but a people's will still remains the supreme authority.

The American achievement under the plan of the fathers is nowhere disputed. On the contrary, the American example has been the model of every republic which glorifies the progress of liberty and is every where the haven of representative democracy which has expanded human freedom. It has been wrought through party government.

NO ONE MAN'S JOB
No man is big enough to run this great republic. There never has been one. Such domination was never intended. Tranquility, stability, dependability—all are assured in party government. We mean to renew the assurances which were ended in the cataclysmal war.

It was not surprising that we went far afield from safe and prescribed paths amid the war anxieties. There was the unfortunate tendency before, there was the surrender of congress to the growing assumption of the executive before the world war imperiled all the practices we had learned to believe in, and in the way emergency executive government was born. In the name of democracy we established autocracy. We are not complaining at this extraordinary bestowal or assumption in war, it seemed temporarily necessary, but alarm is over the failure to restore the constitutional methods when the war emergency ended.

Our first commitment in the restoration of representative popular government, under the constitution, through the agency of the Republican party. Our vision includes more than a chief executive we believe in a cabinet of highest capacity equal to the responsibilities which our system contemplates, in whose estimate the vice-president, second official of the republic shall be asked to participate. The same vision includes a cordial understanding and coordinated activities with a house of congress, fresh from the people, voicing the convictions which members bring from direct contact with the electorate, and cordial cooperation along with the restored functions of the senate, fit to be the greatest deliberative body of the world. Its members are the designated sentinels on the towers of constitutional government. The resumption of the senate's authority saved to this republic its independent nationality, when anocracy misinterpreted the dream of a world experiment to be the vision of a world ideal.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONSHIP
It is not difficult, Chairman Lodge, to make ourselves clear on the question of international relationship. We Republicans of the senate, conscious of our solemn oaths and mindful of our constitutional obligations when we saw the structure of a world supergovernment taking visionary form joined in a becoming warning of our devotion to this republic. If the torch of constitutionalism had not been dimmed, the delayed power of the world and the tragedy of disappointment and Europe's understanding of America easily might have been avoided. The Republicans of the senate halted the barrier of independent American eminence and influence, which it was proposed to exchange for an obscure and unequal place in the merged government of the world. Our party means to hold the heritage of American nationality impaired and unimpaired.

The world will not misconstrue

We do not mean to hold aloof. We do not mean to shun a single responsibility of this republic to world civilization. There is not hate in the American heart. We have no envy, no suspicion, no aversion for every people in the world. We hold to our rights, and means to defend, aye, we mean to sustain the rights of this nation and our citizens alike, everywhere under the shining sun. Yet there is the concord of amity and sympathy and fraternity in every resolution. There is a genuine aspiration to every American breast for tranquil friendship with all the world.

More, we believe the unspeakable sorrows, the immeasurable sacrifices, the awakened convictions and the aspiring conscience of humankind must commit the nations of the earth to a new and better relationship. It need not be discussed now what we plunged the world into war, it need not be inquired whether we asked the sons of this republic to defend our national rights, as I believe we did, or to purge the old world of the accumulated ills of rivalry and greed, the sacrifices will be in vain if we cannot acclaim a new order with added security to civilization and peace maintained.

CONSCIENCE OF AMERICA

One may readily sense the conscience of our America. I am sure I understand the purpose of the dominant group of the senate. We were not seeking to defeat a world aspiration, we were resolved to safeguard America. We were resolved, then, even as we are today, and will be tomorrow, to preserve this free and independent republic. Let those now responsible, or seeking responsibility, propose the surrender, whether with interpretations, apologies or reluctant reservations—from which our rights are to be omitted—we welcome the referendum to the American people on the preservation of America, and the Republican party pledges its defense of the preserved inheritance of national freedom.

In the call of conscience of America is peace, peace that closes the gaping wound of world war and silences the impassioned voice of international envy and distrust. Heeding this call and knowing as I do the disposition of the congress, I want formal and effective peace as quickly as a Republican congress can pass its declaration for a Republican executive to sign. Then we may turn to our readjustment at home and proceed deliberately and reflectively to that hoped for world relationship which shall satisfy both conscience and aspirations and still hold us free from menacing involvement.

I can hear in the call of conscience an insistent voice for the largely reduced armaments throughout the world, with attending reduction of burdens upon peace-loving humanity. We wish to give of American influence and example, we must give of American leadership to that invaluable accomplishment.

I can speak unreservedly of the American aspiration and the Republican commitment for an association of nations, co-operating in sublime accord, to attain and preserve peace, determined to aid to security through international law, as possible with an affronting world honor.

This republic can never be unmindful of its power, and must never forget the force of its example. Possession of might that admits no fear, America must stand foremost for the right. If the mistaken voice of America, spoken in unheeding haste, led Europe, in the hour of deepest anxiety, into a military alliance which menaces peace and threatens all freedom, instead of aiding to their security, then we must speak the truth for America and express our hope for the frenzied conscience of nations.

SAFEGUARDS REJECTED

It will avail nothing to discuss in detail the league covenant, which was conceived for world supergovernment, negotiated in misunderstanding and intolerantly urged and demanded by its administration sponsors, who resisted every effort to safeguard America, and who finally rejected when such safeguards were inserted. If the supreme blunder has left European relationships inextricably interwoven in the league compact, our sympathy for Europe only magnifies our own good fortune to resist such involvement. It is better to be free and disinterested and advancing international justice and the covenant of cooperation than be shackled by a world of action and give to a military alliance the right to proclaim America's duty to the world. No surrender to a world council or its military alliance, no assumed mandatory however appealing, ever shall suppress the sons of this republic to war. These supreme sacrifices shall only be asked for America and its rail of honor. There is a sanctity in the right we will not delegate.

When the compact was being written, I do not know, insistently be asked or ambition, insistently be asked, it was no good to reject. It was the confidence in our own selflessness that I can believe that our evident disinterestedness inspired Europe's wish for our association, quite as much as the selfish thought of entangling America's power and resources. Ours is an outstanding influential example to the world, whether we cloak it in spoken modesty or magnify it in exaltation. We want to help; we mean to help; we hold to our own interpretation of the American conscience as the very soul of our nationality.

Disposed as we are, the way is very simple. Let the failure attending assumption, obstinacy, impracticability and delay be recognized and let us find the big, practical, unselfish way to do our part, neither covetous because of ambition nor hesitant because of fear, but ready to serve ourselves, humanity and God. With a senate advising as the constitution contemplates, I would hope to fully approach the nations of Europe and of the earth, proposing that understanding which makes us a willing participant in the construction of nations to a new relationship, to commit the moral forces of the world, America included, to peace and international justice, still leaving America free, independent and self-reliant, but offering friendship to all the world.

If men call for more specific details, I remind them that moral commitments are broad and all-inclusive, and we are contemplating peoples in the concept of humanity's advancement. From our own viewpoint the program is specifically American and we mean to be Americans first, to all the world.

Appraising preserved nationality as the first essential to the continued progress of the republic, there is linked with it the supreme necessity of the restoration—let us say the re-creation—of the constitution and our reconstruction as an industrial nation. Here is the transcendent task. It concerns our common well-being at home and abroad. More than these, this constitutional republic, under constitutional liberties, has given to mankind the most fortunate conditions for human activity and attainment, the world has ever noted, and we are today the world's reserve force in the great contest for liberty through security, and maintained equality of opportunity and its righteous rewards.

WITNESS FACTS

It is folly to close our eyes to outstanding facts. Humanity is restive, much of the world is in revolt, the agents of discord and destruction have wrought their tragedy in patrician Russia, have lighted their torches among other peoples, and hope to see America as a part of the great Red conflagration. Ours is the temple of liberty under the law and it is ours to call the Sons of Opportunity to its defense. America must not only save herself, but ours must be the appealing voice to sober the world.

More than all else the present day world needs understanding. There can be no peace save through understood differences, and the submission

MISSION SENT TO AID POLES

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, July 22.—The allies decided to take measures preparatory to giving military aid to Poland if that should prove necessary. It was learned today.

The French mission, headed by Jules Jusserand, French ambassador to the United States, who is home on leave, with General Weyand, right hand man of Marshal Foch, will leave tonight for Warsaw to arrange for prompt succor of the Poles. On the same train and with the same object will be the British mission headed by Lord Abernethy, British ambassador to Berlin.

W. A. ROGERS FILES FOR CONSTABLE JOB

W. A. Rogers has announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for constable. Rogers came to Tonopah in 1904 and followed prospecting for a few years, later entering the blacksmithing business, buying out C. G. Hanson and also the Jack Tambling shop. He conducted both shops for some time and later sold out to resume prospecting. Later he entered the employ of the Darby Wholesale Produce company, of which concern he became local manager and remained in that capacity until the company sold its business, at which time he purchased the water wagons, also selling wood and coal.

Mr. Rogers remained in this business until the town had installed water pipes sufficient to supply the demand and the water wagon business was no longer profitable. After discontinuing the business Rogers became connected with the fire department and has remained in a position there the last few years. He believes he can discharge the duties of the office of constable capably and asks the support of the republican voters at the primaries.

FATHER FOX TAKES CROWD TO POMPEII

A large crowd last night heard the knowledge on Pompeii given at the Alderson by Rev. Father Fox, who has visited the historic city many times. He told interestingly of the city and the incidents surrounding its destruction and rediscovery centuries later. The program given in connection of the lecture was enjoyable throughout. The lecture of Father Fox was illustrated with lantern slides, photographs taken by himself when in Pompeii. Following the program a dance was enjoyed by a large number.

of the individual to the will and weal of the many. Any other plan means anarchy and its rule of force.

It must be understood that toil alone makes for accomplishment and advancement in the realm of toil, and its incentive. There is no progress except in the stimulus of competition. When competition—natural, fair, impelling by law, compact or conspiracy, we halt the march of progress, silence the voice of aspiration, and paralyze the will of achievement. These are but common sense truths of human development.

PRODUCTION

The chief trouble today is that the world was wrought the destruction of beautiful competition, left our storehouses empty and there is a minimum production when our need is maximum. Maximums, not minimums, is the call of America. It is not a new story, because we never fail to leave depleted storehouses and always impair the efficiency of production. War also establishes its higher standard for wages, and they abide. I wish the higher wage to abide, on one explicit condition—that cost of living.

PROFITING CRIME

I want somehow to appeal to the sons and daughters of the republic, to every producer, to join hand and brain in production, more production, honest production, patriotic production, because patriotic production is no less a defense of our best civilization than that of armed force. Profiteering is a crime of commission, under-production is a crime of omission. We must work our most and best, else the destructive reaction will come. We must stabilize and strive for normalcy, else the inevitable reaction will bring in its train sufferings, disappointments and reversals. We want to forestall such reaction, we want to hold all advanced ground and fortify it with general good fortune.

Let us return for a moment to the necessity for understanding particularly that understanding which concerns ourselves at home. I decline to recognize any conflict of interest among the participants in industry. The destruction of one is the ruin of the other, the suspicion or rebellion of one unavoidably involves the other. In conflict is disaster, in understanding there is triumph. There is no issue relating to the foundation on which industry is built because industry is bigger than any element in its modern Tonopah is feeling the benefit of an exceptional amount of transcontinental auto travel through this city. Autoists are expressing a preference for the Midland Trail, by way of Ely, to the Lincoln Highway and all other routes. An average of 20 cars, it is stated, are passing through Tonopah daily. Tourists headed for southern California are branching off here, continuing their trip by way of Goldfield, Big Pine and May Lake. Those headed for northern California leave Tonopah and continue by way of Mina, Carson City and Lake Tahoe.

EAGER THROWS GREET NOMINEE

SPEECH IN RESUME

(By Associated Press)

MARION, Ohio, July 22.—A pledge of constitutional government administered by party and not by individual and based on national rather than world ideals, was given by Warren G. Harding today in accepting for the presidency.

He welcomed a popular referendum on the League of Nations, advocated increased production to cut the high cost of living, pleaded for obliteration of sectional and class conflict, and declared for industrial peace "not forced but inspired by the common weal."

Prohibition he gave only a passing notice, saying that despite divided opinion regarding the eighteenth amendment and the statutes enacted to make it operative, there must be no evasion in their enforcement. He declared it his "sincere desire" that ratification of the suffrage amendment be completed to permit women to vote this fall in every state.

CURRENCY DEFLATION

Reviewing and commending briefly many other planks of the party platform, the candidate declared for collective bargaining for farmers, repression of the disloyal, "generous federal cooperation in rehabilitating the railroads, intelligent deflation of the currency, enlargement of government and in reclamation, a genuine expression of gratitude to veterans of the world war and maintenance of an ample navy and a small army but the best in the world." In his promise of a "party government" Senator Harding reiterated his belief that the vice-president should have a part in the affairs of the chief executive's official family and declared there also should be a "cordial understanding and coordinated activities" between the executive and congress.

"No man," he said, "is big enough to run this republic. Our commitment is the restoration of representative popular government under the constitution, through the agency of the Republican party."

Promising restoration of peace as soon as a Republican congress should send a peace declaration to a Republican president for his signature, the candidate assailed the league covenant as brought home by President Wilson, but declared the war's sacrifices would be "in vain if we cannot acclaim a new order, with added security to civilization and peace maintained."

"We Republicans of the senate," he continued, "when we saw the structure of a world supergovernment taking visionary form, joined in a becoming warning of our devotion to this republic. The Republicans of the senate halted the barrier of independent American eminence, and influence."

MEET RESPONSIBILITIES

"We do not mean to hold aloof. We do not mean to shun a single responsibility of this republic. We were resolved then, even as we are today, and will be tomorrow, to preserve this free and independent republic. Let those now responsible, or seeking responsibility, propose the surrender, whether with interpretations, apologies, or reluctant reservations—from which our rights are to be omitted. We welcome the referendum to the American people on the preservation of America."

"With a senate advising as the constitution contemplates, I would honestly approach the nations of Europe and of the earth, proposing that understanding which makes us a willing participant in the construction of nations to a new leadership, to commit the moral forces of the world, America included, to peace and international justice, still leaving America free, independent and self-reliant, but offering friendship to all the world."

BACKS RAILROADERS

Involving railway employees ought to be the best paid in the world, the candidate emphasized the responsibility of such service, and added: "The government might well stamp railway employment with the sanctity of public service and guarantee to the railway employees that justice which comes the American conception of righteousness on the one hand and generous continuity of service on the other."

In his reference to prohibition and law enforcement he said:

"People ever will differ about the

Thirty Special Trains Bring Thousands to Marion For Notification Ceremony

(By Associated Press)

MARION, O., July 22.—The Republican campaign attained full speed today with the formal notification of Warren G. Harding, the party's nominee for president. The notification ceremonies, which brought to Marion most of the big leaders of the party, included an acceptance speech by Senator Harding interpreting the Chicago platform and declaring the principles on which he expects the campaign to be fought out. The acceptance speech came at an end of a long program in which high pitched enthusiasm ruled the day as visiting delegations marched on the Harding residence in unbroken succession to be received by the candidate.

FLAG RAISING

At seven o'clock in the morning, a noisy aggregation of Marion citizens that looked like half the town led off with a demonstration. To their howling acclaim the Senator played a part in the flag raising, pulling the stars and stripes to the top of a weather beaten McKinley flag pole, sent there from Canton.

Delegation after delegation, with hands playing and colors flying followed up to the Harding front porch as 30 special trains and thousands of automobiles unloaded their crowds. Marion was dressed within an inch of its life for its debut in the great affairs of the nation. Business was adjourned and partnership forgotten as republicans and democrats joined in acknowledging the honor that came to one of their neighbors.

ROADS ASK INCREASES

Would Advance Pullman Rate 50 Per Cent. and Passenger Charges 20 Per Cent.

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 22.—An increase of 20 per cent. in passenger fares and 50 per cent. in Pullman charges was asked of the interstate Commerce commission today by the railroads to cover a part of the wage award granted by the railroad labor board. Freight rate increases up to 10 per cent. are asked.

HAVE NOT ACCEPTED

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 22.—Decision tonight on whether the 18 railroad unions will accept the $600,000,000 wage award was promised today by T. E. Shepherd, when the brotherhood chiefs resumed their conferences. Union officials refused to comment on reports that they were divided. Privately they said a referendum seemed the only possible course.

If a vote by all union members is ordered the award will be tentatively accepted so the men will get increased pay for this month and back pay from May 1, as provided by the retroactive feature of the railroad labor board's decision. A referendum will take at least 30 days.

Wisdom of the enactment of a law—there is divided opinion regarding the eighteenth amendment and the laws enacted to make it operative—but there can be no difference of opinion about honest law enforcement. Modification or repeal is the right of a free people, whenever the deliberate and intelligent public sentiment commands but perversion and evasion mark the path to the failure of government itself.
